Lowe bus vandalism bill signed into law

State Rep. Allen Lowe, R-Grayling, recently thanked local officials for helping to enact a new law tightening the penalties for individuals creating a safety hazard by damaging or destroying a school bus.

Lowe, who sponsored the law in Lansing, presented a framed copy of Public Act 13 of 1995 to Crawford County Assistant Prosecuting Attorney David Sabin.

"He brought this matter to my attention and played a key role in building support for the tougher law," Lowe said. "This senseless vandalism endangers lives and must be stopped. Tampering can result in tragedy or leave school districts with costly repairs."

Sabin urged Lowe to introduce the bill after an incident at Grayling High School in November 1993. Two Grayling High students were convicted of damaging the brake lines and flattening the tires of 10 school buses in the Crawford AuSable School Bus Compound.

Under the Lowe measure, anyone convicted of school bus vandalism will face a maximum of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

"This is an example of how government can make a difference. Local residents expressed concern about a dangerous situation and asked their elected representative to get involved. Their consistent support brought an important change in the law. Northern Michigan's voice was heard and the state responded," Lowe said.

ONE MAN CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE--State Representative Allen Lowe (R) presents a copy of Public Act 13 of 1995 to David Sabin. Sabin suggested the idea of the bus vandalism law to Lowe who pushed it into law. At left is Crawford AuSable Transportation Director Michael Alma.

Schaibly amendment submitted to county waste committee

By Terry Wright
News Editor

The Crawford County Solid Waste Planning Committee will convene on Wednesday, June 21, to begin processing the latest amendment to the county's solid waste plan. The meeting is set for 7 p.m. in the chambers of the Grayling City Council and is open to the public, although it is not a public hearing.

The amendment was submitted, through the Northeast Michigan Council of Governments, by Lovells Township Supervisor Fred Schaibly, after two prior amendments, submitted by City Environmental Services Inc. of Waters (CESW), were rejected.

The Schaibly amendment would uphold CESW's earlier request to compete for waste in an expanded number of counties, but would impose a $1.50 per-gate-yard fee, to be paid to Crawford County, on wastes coming into CESW's Maple Forest based landfill from counties outside Crawford. The fee would then be used to create an enforcement mechanism to monitor waste coming to the landfill.

The lack of an enforcement mechanism funded by a gate fee were cited as the main reason three county commissioners voted against the most recent CESW amendment.

At its Tuesday, June 13 meeting, the commission voted to send a letter of thanks to Schaibly for his amendment and to the citizens of Lovells Township for footing the bill. The motion was made by commissioner Robert McLachlan Sr., who had been a strong supporter of the previous CESW amendments.

Michael Nelson, an attorney for City Management Inc., an affiliate of CESW, said although he had not seen the new proposal, "It can't unilaterally

Franklin, McMillan elected to district board of education

"The community owes Bernadine Dosch a debt of gratitude"--Kent Reynolds, Crawford AuSable Superintendent

By Linda Sherwood
Staff Writer

A change is in store for the Crawford AuSable School Board of Education. Two new board members were elected into office on Monday, June 12. James McMillan and Linda Rutkowski Franklin will begin their four year terms in July.

Five candidates filed for the two seats open for election including incumbent Bernadine A. Dosch. Voter turnout was a little higher than in the 1990 election with about 300 more votes this year. McMillan won all three precincts with a total of 754 votes. Franklin came in second in precincts two and three with a total of 412 votes. Paul Olson came in second in the precinct one and third in precincts two and three with a total of 409 votes. Dosch finished with 357 votes and Dixon had 340 votes.

LINDA FRANKLIN

JAMES MCMILLAN

After 18 years on the board, Dosch, current president of the board was elected out of office. State wide most incumbents kept their seats in the Monday school board elections.

Kent Reynolds, superintendent, said, "The community owes Bernadine Dosch a debt of gratitude. She's been on board for 18 years and directed it through some difficult times. She has been responsible for academic growth for all students. She's carried community service to an extreme level. We are what we are because of Bernie. We're going to miss her."

"We're looking forward to reorganization with the new board to continue to improve and grow," he said.

James A. McMillan has been a resident of Crawford County for 18 years with his wife and two sons, both graduates of Grayling High School. McMillan is employed by the Department of Natural Resources as the area forest manager.

McMillan promised during his campaign to vote independently on each issue based on its merits and for what it can do to improve opportunities for students.

Linda Rutkowski Franklin was born and raised in Crawford County and a graduate of Grayling High School. Franklin is employed by Crawford County as Deputy Clerk for Circuit Court.

Franklin said, during her campaign, a change is necessary in the board's priorities from that of being a 'show case' school district to one of being an 'effective education al system' and not a system with one of the highest drop-out rates in the state.

Man charged with assault and battery on student

A 15-year-old Grayling High School student contacted the Grayling City Police on Thursday, June 8, reporting a possible abduction attempt.

According to Prosecuting Attorney John Huss, the girl was walking to school on the last day of the school year, when a man stopped his vehicle to ask if she would like a ride. He reportedly told her she looked cold.

After the student agreed to the ride, the man began rubbing her legs, as if to warm her. The student apparently didn't think the behavior was appropriate and asked to be let out of the car.

After a description of the vehicle was released to area law enforcement agencies, the vehicle was stopped just after crossing the Mackinac Bridge, in St. Ignace.

Grayling City Police officers returned a downstate man to Crawford County, where he has since been charged with assault and battery. The name of the man has not been released, pending his arraignment in 83rd District Court.

impose a fee. A fee is of no binding effect and is inherently illegal. An amendment that's inconsistent with 641 (Public Act 641) has no binding effect."

Nelson also said that restricting flow control to only counties named in the solid waste management plan is against the law.

Virginia Pierce, District 7 Supervisor of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Waste Management Division disagrees with Nelson.

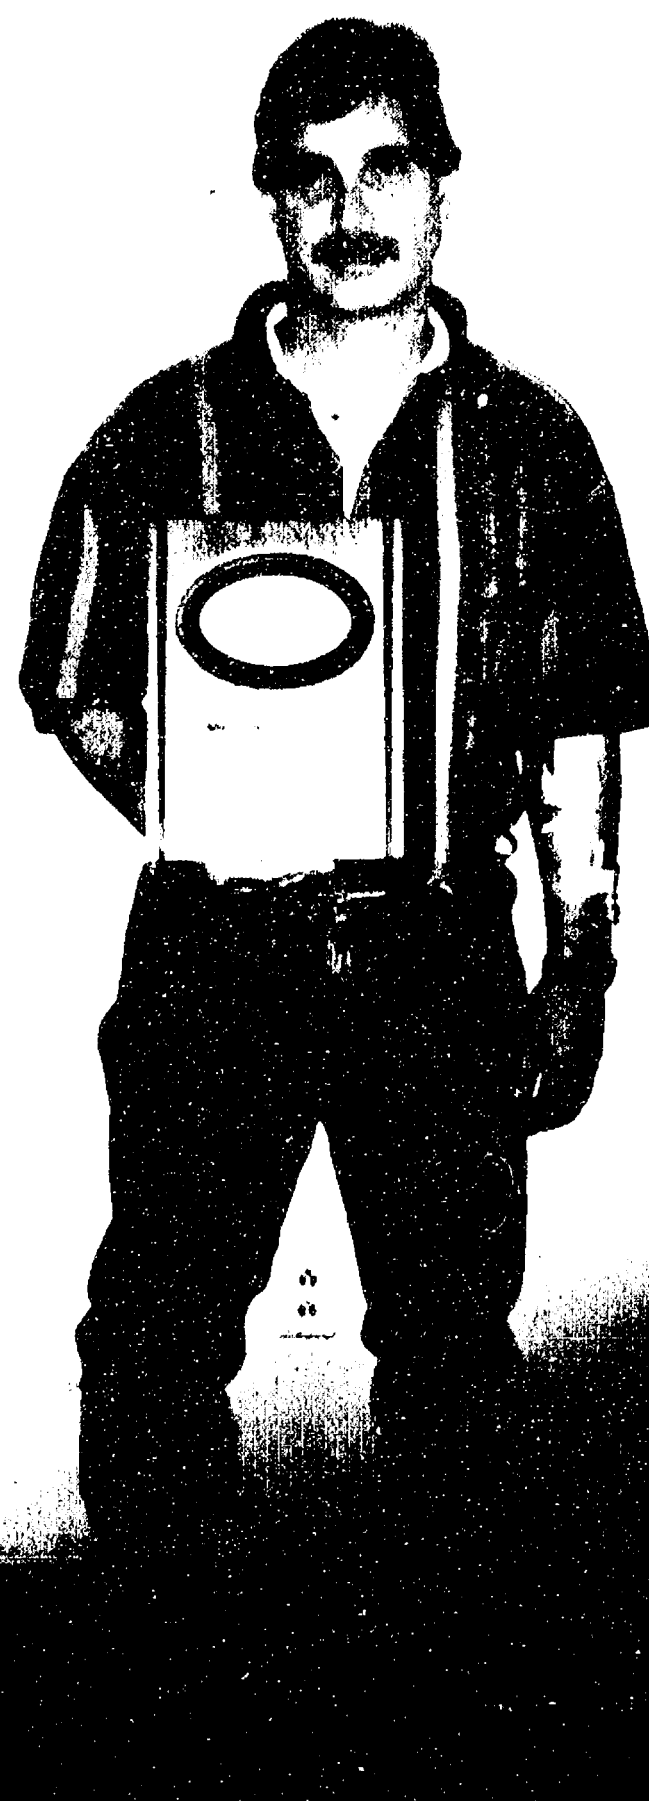

"Flow control is still part of the law," Pierce said. "The county plan is still an enforceable part of the law."

Pierce said that although inter-state and inter-country wastes cannot be regulated, two of three recent court decisions have upheld the legality of intra-county control of waste, but she said there is currently a case under appeal which could overturn the legality of intra-county flow control.

After reviewing the plan, including at least one meeting for public comment, the Crawford County Solid Waste Planning Committee will send the Schaibly amendment to the Crawford County Board of Commissioners with a recommendation to either accept or reject.

If rejected at any point in the process, the proposal would die, but if it is accepted by the commission, the amendment will then have to be accepted by two-thirds of county municipalities. If it passes through the county commission and the municipalities, the amendment must be signed by the Director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources before it can take effect.

Local man drives 1,000,000 safe miles

JIM CORLEW

Jim Corlew of Grayling, has achieved a milestone in his career as a truck driver with Georgia-Pacific Corporation (GP), that no other local driver can claim.

Corlew, 42, recently passed the 1,000,000 mile mark of totally accident-free driving. It took him 17 years to accomplish the feat delivering GP products throughout Michigan. He said he typically drives about 1,500 miles per week.

In recognition of his achievement, GP presented Corlew with a jacket, patch, belt buckle, tie pin and its prestigious "Million Mile Safety Award."

Corlew attributes his driving record to always driving defensively, being alert and, "a little luck."

Currently Corlew is at home for a few weeks recuperating from an illness but said he is looking forward to being on the road again.

Heroic rescue in City Park saves girl from drowning

By Linda Sherwood
Staff Writer

The Grayling City Park and the beautiful AuSable River that runs through it attracts many people to come to relax, but for Michleen Smith, 10, the allure of the AuSable almost cost her life on Wednesday, May 31.

Smith and her friend, Catherine Cain, 11, were wading in the AuSable on the top side of the dam when Smith lost her balance. She began to go over the dam when Cain grabbed her by the arm in an attempt to save her. Both girls were carried over the dam by the current.

Scott Cinciala, 22, of Grayling, was fishing when he saw the girls go over. He removed his waders and waded out into the water. Cain had regained her balance on her own, but Smith was rolling around in the undertow of the falls. Cinciala could see her hair and then a foot as she rolled over and over. He grabbed Cain in his left arm and used his right arm to try and grab Smith. After several attempts, he was able to grab her shorts and pulled her out of the undertow.

Tony Pizzi, 20, of Grayling, climbed into the water and also attempted to reach Smith. As he held onto one girl, Pizzi got stuck between the rocks.

During the rescue, Cinciala also lost his balance in the current. Police Chief Peter Stephan said, "If it hadn't been for Scott, I would think we would of had a young girl who would have drown."

"It happened so quick," said Cinciala. "She (Smith) was crying as soon as I pulled her out of the water."

The Grayling City Police was on the scene as the girls were being pulled out of the water.

Smith was rushed to Mercy Hospital where she was later released. Cain suffered only minor scratches and bruises and was not taken to the hospital.

Police Chief Stephan plans to rec-commend Cinciala be recognized for his actions to the city manager and council. He also plans on turning Cinciala in for citizen's recognition from the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police (MACP).

ISSUES AND OPINIONS

ALMANACK By Richard Milliman

The ethics of switching parties

BOLTING ONE political party to become a member of the other sometimes can be a touchy thing.

It's happened several times in Congress since Republicans took control of both House and Senate last November.

Oddly enough, the switching has been all one way — from elected Democrat to avowed Republican. No traffic has developed the other way.

The professed reason always is that the officeholder feels more comfortable and in agreement with his/her new party.

Sen. Ben Nighthorse Campbell of Colorado, is one of the switchers. His move to the Republican tent came at the time of Senate consideration of the balanced budget amendment — a GOP priority and a Democratic anathema.

"I can no longer represent the agenda that is put forth by the party," explained Sen. Campbell, who has long supported the amendment. "My personal beliefs and the Democratic Party are far apart."

Sen. Bob Kerrey, Nebraska Democrat, pointed out that 13 other Democrats voted for the balanced budget amendment, but stayed put in the Democratic camp.

MOST OF THE Democratic congressional defectors have been from the south. Most also are accustomed to being in the majority in either House or Senate.

Serving as a minority member is considerably different and much more frustrating than being in the minority. Thus, there could be an element of partisan opportunism in the switches to the GOP.

Would the changes have occurred if Republicans had remained the minority? It's arguable.

Is it proper for an individual to run as a Democrat, and then after being elected, to switch parties? Is it fair to the voters?

Sen. Campbell sees no problem. "The majority of the people who voted for me voted for me because of who I am, not because I was a Democrat or a Republican," he said.

He saw no reason to resign, either, as had been suggested by some Democratic leaders, who wanted him to quit and run as a Republican in a special election.

"I don't think it's necessary to resign," Sen. Campbell reasoned. "The same people would still vote for me."

BUT SEN. KERREY was not convinced. He claimed the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, which he heads, had poured $255,000 into the Campbell campaign in 1992 to elect a Democrat, and that it was unfair to campaign donors and other Democrats to end up with a Republican. He asked Mr. Campbell to return the money.

Mr. Kerrey's perfectly justified in asking for a return of campaign funds — although he's not likely to get it.

Mr. Campbell is not alone in thinking his personal magnetism elected him to office and that party label had nothing to do with it.

Rare is the candidate who wins any political race at any level who gives proper credit to the political party for its frequently decisive role.

In most partisan races, the political party is paramount to victory — or defeat. Democrats usually vote for Democratic candidates, and Republicans for Republican candidates.

Without the party label in a partisan race, a candidate generally has little chance to win. There are exceptions, of course, but as a rule, when it comes to partisan elections, party influence is important, if not controlling.

Sen. Campbell claimed that "the biggest constituency in Colorado is the unaffiliated voters." That may be true, but without the hardcore Democratic voter support that party affiliation brings out, he likely would not have won in 1992.

Mr. Campbell won a 3-way primary, then won the general election with 52 percent of the vote. Would he have won as an unaffiliated candidate, even with a large bloc of unaffiliated voters?

As a Republican candidate, he may have won in 1992. As a Democratic candidate, he did win.

But if he had run as an independent, unaffiliated candidate, relying on people to vote for him "because of who I am," as he claims?

It's possible... but not very likely. Party politics is much more important to successful candidates than is usually believed.

Independents — or unaffiliated voters — frequently can influence an outcome... but usually not by electing one of their own.

FROM OUR CORNER By Whitey Madsen

there are many who have experienced the same procedure for hips or knees.

Dr. John Theil of N'Orthopedics, P.C. clinic located here and in Gaylord, installed a new hip, both the socket and ball (artificial hip-prosthesis).

The last time I was a guest at Mercy for any length of time was so long ago I cannot remember the year. I do remember that Drs. Henig and Blaha removed my appendix around 10 o'clock at night. Sort of an emergency. Like then, as now, the nurses and aides made my stay as comfortable as possible.

I do have a suggestion concerning the ones who take care of us senior folks who have lost some of our sight and memory — the ident badges they wear are fine but, a larger badge with their first name in large type, along with the ident badge would help in our recognizing names and help in our memory of names.

During our stay the food was ok, except, the cooks forgot to use salt, just a smidgen would have been fine. Also, there is no Pub in this hotel, one can't even get a hot toddy to help one go to sleep at night.

Once I got home, Nancy Smith, R.N., kept track of my vital signs three days a week for a few weeks. It has been a couple weeks now since she figured the ol' fella was ok.

Along with Nancy, through Amicare, Paul Drew, PT, and Linda Grosskopf, PTA, have put me through physical therapy, and as I type this on Friday, it looks like they will be through with me this week.

Last, but far from least, my wife Thelma deserves a medal for what she has done, waiting on me ever since I came home on Easter Sunday. Having one leg that is operable what one can do is quite limited to say the least.

Things are looking up today, as I type this I have graduated from a walker to a cane. As I look back, I cannot fathom why I did not have this surgery sooner. It has been over a year when my hip went to pot. Now there are three words that sum it all up... NO MORE PAIN...

Contrary to what two friends said, I do not have to carry a can of W.D-4 with me when it rains to avoid my hip getting rusty.

A few closers from Joe Falls' Forum in The Detroit News:

• Joey Adams said, "I'm really looking forward to Easter Sunday. That's when my wife gets home from her Christmas party."

That takes care of the turkey for this week...

DOODLES FROM THE TALL TIMBER

By Wendell L. Hoover, Park Interpreter

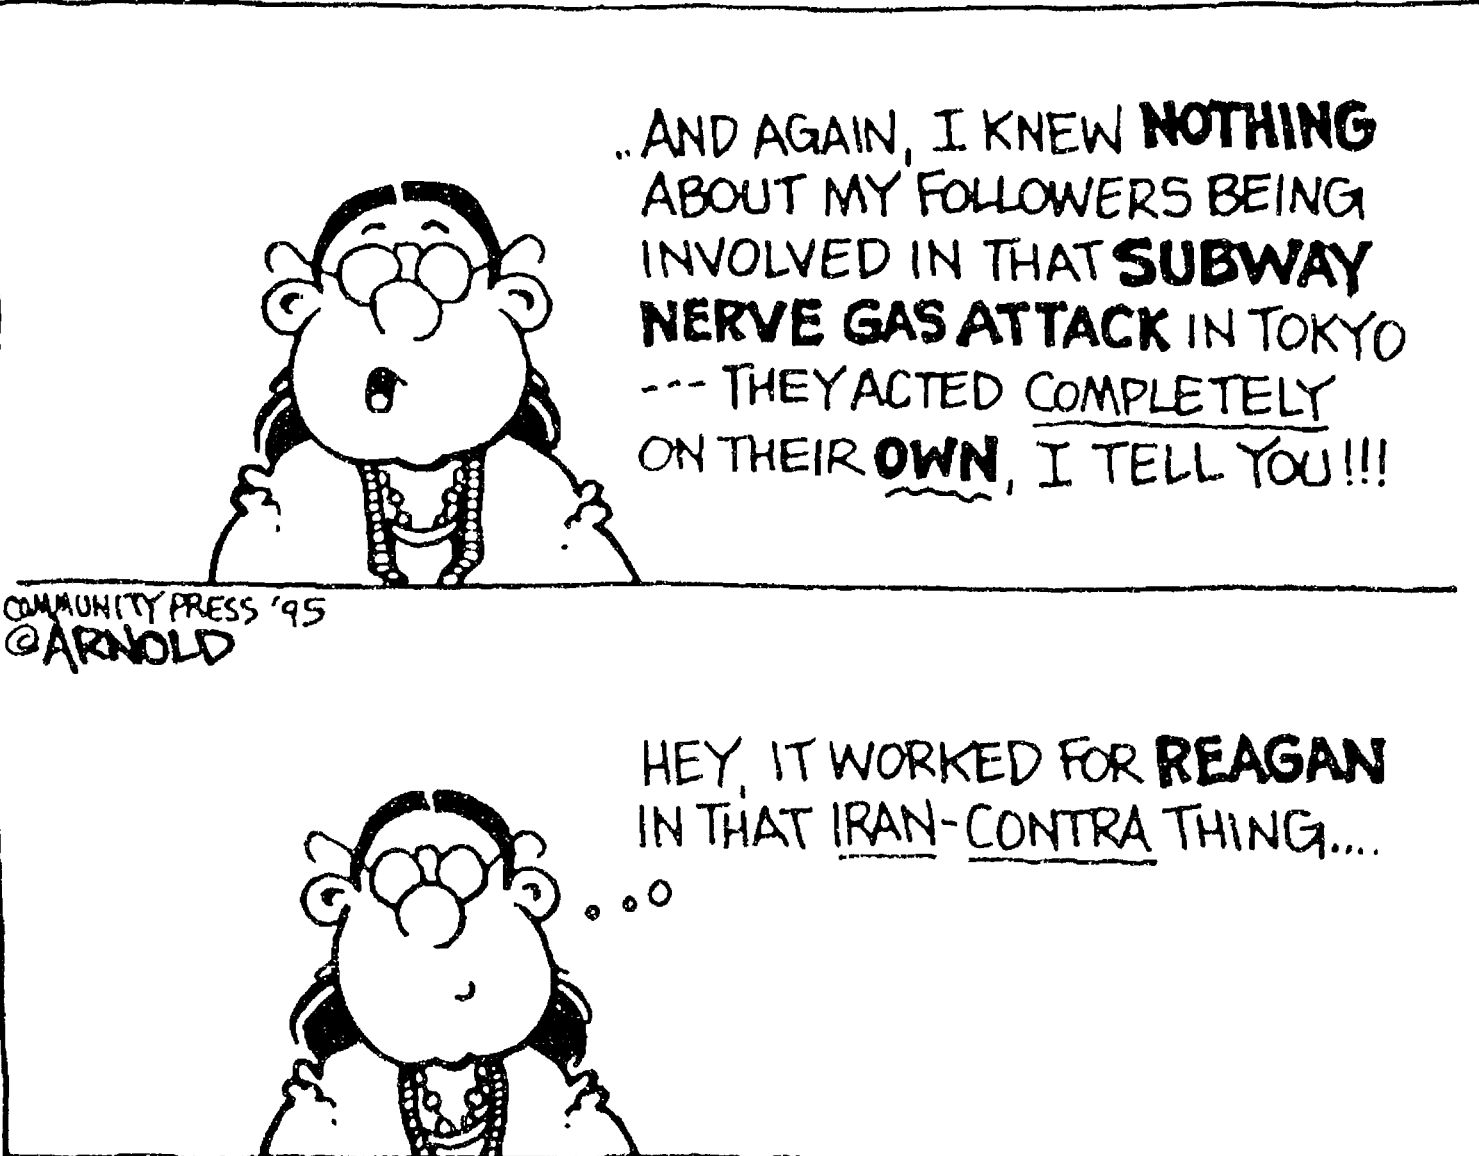

You are well aware that I like to whittle or carve wood and believe it is a neat way to creatively keep one's hands and mind occupied, and/or pass time. Over the years I have carved miniature single and double axes while waiting for groups of people to gather for a guided tour or program, but my favorite 4-minute project is a miniature canoe paddle. In the last 10 years or so, I have also made many full-size canoe paddles for those in the buckskin fraternity who use their canoes for reenactment activities. The paddle I copied was originally made by David Shoppenagon, who, as you all know, was a noted hunting and fishing guide on our AuSable River at the turn of the century. My paddle is probably of maple or birch, yet despite its slim lines, is still strong. A paddle to use all day.

The ultimate canoe men were the Voyageurs who plied the waters of what is now the northern United States and most of Canada during the fur trade, in canoes varying in length from 40 feet for a canot du maitre, to a light canoe used for carrying messages and dispatches that were only 10 to 15-foot long. From two to 14-man crews were used to man those bark-covered vessels.

Voyageurs typically used three sizes of paddles with blades from three to five inches wide, depending upon the individual man's position in the canoe. The men in the center (milieux) used a paddle about four and half to 5-feet long with blades no more than 4-inches wide. The steersman (gouvernail) who always stood in the stern, used a paddle somewhere between 5-and-6-foot long (probably dependent upon personal preference), with a blade some 5-inches wide. The bowsman or foreman (avant de canot) used a slightly larger paddle, especially when running rivers where quick changes in course were necessary to protect the bark skin of the canot.

If you want a paddle to fit you, select one no longer than eye-level tall for the bow and shoulder tall for the stern, which should have a slightly wider blade to aid in steering. I prefer a paddle of northern white cedar for deep water (lakes or placid rivers) and a slim paddle similar to Shoppenagon's for general use on the river. Commercially made paddles can be modified slightly to improve their balance and feel, thus increasing your ability to paddle well all day. Only when you can paddle at 40 strokes a minute for 12 to 15 hours a day and still be ready to portage or party at day's end, will you be approaching the qualities of a Voyageur.

St. Francis Human Resource Center dedicated to Roy

A dedication of the St. Francis Human Resource Center, the new home of New Life Community Service, to Rev. Derik Roy was held on Sunday, June 4 by the congregation of the St. Francis Episcopal Church during their worship service.

In 1987, Rev. Roy and Robert Smock Jr. developed an outreach program, which would improve the spiritual, emotional, mental, physical and social conditions of people in the area through counseling and substance abuse prevention education. Along with others from the St. Francis congregation, they developed the New Life Community Service. Clyde Holzhauser was instrumental in developing the "vision statement" and in assisting with organizing the agency.

New Life is a tax exempt, nonprofit organization, governed by a board of directors who are members of St. Francis, and supported by a coalition of funding sources. These sources include federal, state, local organizations, church resources, private organizations and client fees, which are adjusted to suit family size and income.

HUMAN RESOURCE CENTER-- The new home of New Life Community Service was dedicated to Rev. Derik Roy (holding plaque) on Sunday, June 4 at the St. Francis Episcopal Church.

In the summer of 1994, a long hoped dream of the congregation of St. Francis Church was realized in the construction of the Human Resource Center. It has been placed on church property and shares space on that property with two other structures: the church itself and the St. Francis Thrift Shop. The center was built to house New Life and to make space available for other human service organizations in the community.

Currently AuSable Valley Youth Service Bureau is in the center as well. The youth service bureau is a private, nonprofit counseling agency, which works directly with delinquent and at-risk youth through contracts with the Probate Court. The bureau also operates the Sibs for Kids project, which matches adults with youth in the Big Brother/Big Sister program.

The professional staff of the agency is dedicated to serving Crawford County and the surrounding areas with the type of personal service that can best be provided by an agency of modest size. As a service agency accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF), and licensed by the State of Michigan, it is continually monitored and evaluated.

Depending on available funding, New Life offers substance abuse prevention education in the school system; substance abuse counseling, including alcohol and other drug dependencies; and counseling for marriages, relationships and family issues. An open house is planned for late summer. The community will be invited to visit the St. Francis Human Resource Center.

Last day of school disasters avoided

By Linda Sherwood
Staff Writer

Despite fears, the last day of school Thursday, June 8 was fairly calm in the downtown area. Increased police presence and parental warnings were probably the biggest deterrents to the chaos that has reigned in past years on the last day of school.

Some downtown businesses were so worried about problems on the last day of school they closed their doors.

Denise Buccilli, owner of Buccilli's Pizza, decided to remain closed an extra five hours to avoid problems with students. This is the second year that Buccilli's has remained closed for the last day of school. In the past, the staff has confiscated squirt bottles and shaving cream at the door.

"I didn't know that they were going to do that (the increased patrol)," said Buccilli. "If I'd known I probably would have opened."

Several business owners approached the City of Grayling council ahead of time to voice concerns about possible problems in the downtown area.

According to business owners in the area, middle school students who congregate in the area intimidate customers, throw rocks at cars and damage business fronts. In response to the owners concerns, City Manager Jerry Morford met with Police Chief Peter Stephan and David Sabin, city attorney, to discuss deterrents. As a result of the meeting, there was increased police presence in the area. Parents, school officials and officers from Probate Court were also patrolling the area.

Children kept their fun away from the general public. Two students walking in the area were covered with shaving cream, but vehicles and adult customers in the area weren't in danger of being creamed or soaked with water. The students were aware of the business owners concerns. Some students asked permission before entering businesses and owners were happy to let them in. The day was very quiet, a dramatic change from previous years.

Since the Avalanche published a story about the increased problem downtown, Police Chief Stephan said several bikes have been confiscated while enforcing the no skateboards or bicycles ordinance in the area.

Correction

The Avalanche of June 8 contained an error listing the Grayling Middle School recipients of honors. Mason Palmer, not Marson Palmer, received MEAP honors. The Avalanche regrets the error.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By Charles Tinsley, Cadillac Social Security Representative

Benefit restrictions notice sent to addicts and alcoholics

The Social Security Administration (SSA) mailed notices recently to 158,670 individuals who are receiving Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) disability benefits based on drug addiction and/or alcoholism. The notice informs beneficiaries of changes in the law that affect the way payments are made to them. If the individual is currently receiving benefits through a representative payee, SSA will also send a copy of the notice to the payee.

The following changes took effect in March 1995:

•All individuals who are receiving disability benefits based on drug addiction or alcoholism must receive payment through a representative payee. The payee may be an organization or other person whose duty it will be to manage the individual's payments and see that his/her needs are met.

•Drug addicts and/or alcoholics must go for treatment for their addiction when it is available, and must make progress in treatment or their payments will be stopped.

•An individual whose disability results from drug addiction and/or alcoholism may receive benefits for no more than 36 months. For Social Security disability insurance beneficiaries, months in which treatment is not available are not counted in determining the 36-month period.

The disability beneficiaries may contact their local Social Security office at the telephone number provided in the notice, or they may call SSA's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-772-1213. Social Security representatives will explain the provisions of the law in greater detail and answer any questions they may have.

When to retire

Many people nearing retirement age wonder, "Should I keep working or retire as soon as I'm eligible?" Well, there's no right time to retire for everybody. A lot depends on your health, your family, and your job. But here are a few things to think about from Social Security. First, you can retire as early as 62. Of course, if you do, your Social Security retirement benefit will be reduced... to take into account the longer period of time you'll be receiving benefits. If you work until your full retirement age — 65 for people retiring now — you'll receive your full retirement benefit. And if you keep working beyond 65 without collecting Social Security, you'll receive an even larger benefit when you do retire.

You can also retire, collect Social Security benefits, and work part time. If you elect to do this, there are limits on how much you can earn without affecting your Social Security benefit. For more information, contact the Social Security office at 117 Cass St., Cadillac, MI 49601. The hours are Monday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. You may also call 1-616-946-8361.

MIRACLES DO HAPPEN--Just ask the Mark and Jillian Poll family. While driving along AuSable Trail, they heard something break in their vehicle. The brakes locked up and the van skidded 192 feet before rolling over and finally coming to a stop. The van looks horrible but everyone escaped with only minor bumps and bruises. Christopher, 15 and Josh, 8, crawled out windows in the van. Mark, Jillian and Yuvaughn, 10, were also free of serious injuries.

Senior Power Day

"MAGIC FOR THE YOUNG AND THE YOUNG AT HEART"--This was the focus of a House Republican consumer booth celebrating children and seniors during the recent Senior Power Day activities at the state Capitol. State Rep. Allen Lowe, R-Grayling, right, met with seniors from across the state who attended the Lansing event. As lawmakers observed the 21st annual Senior Power Day, they also passed legislation protecting those 60 and older from fraudulent consumer activities, including individuals who engage in the sale of financial securities and instruments. "Consumer fraud is devastating to all victims and especially damaging to seniors. Those involved with illegal scams deserve to be penalized to the fullest extent of the law," said Lowe, who chairs the House Senior Citizens and Veterans Committee. "Events like Senior Power Day help to focus on the needs of our older population while honoring their accomplishments."

UN Taxes?

The Global Commission to Fund the United Nations is a Washington, DC-based tax-exempt organization formed by 57 reputable globalists to win support for giving the UN power to impose direct taxation upon all nations. Inge Kaul, director of the Human Development Report Office for the UNDP, declared in the March issue of Futures: "The main challenge [for the UN] would be to move away from national sources of spending for international cooperation towards global sources."

This agenda to empower the UN as an instrument of global government would, according to Kaul, "involve a transfer of at least some policy-making power from the national to the international level... If one were to continue to rely on national sources (i.e. government budgets) for the UN's financing, all countries... could end up in a paradoxical situation in which they would have to pay more for having less political influence."

Global taxes under consideration are a UN levy on foreign exchange and international currency transactions, and a global tax on the consumption of non-renewable energy. Most dangerous are punitive taxes "...for arms exports or any other activities which the international community deemed undesirable." UN values enforced by taxes.

What are the global goals of the UN? At their World Summit on Social Development in Copenhagen, Denmark, on March 6, they discussed such things as collective action to eradicate "absolute poverty" and to bring about "social integration" on a global scale. Their chief emphasis was the "empowerment of women" to act as "agents of change" on behalf of the UN's politicization of the home. "Children's rights" were another aspect of this infiltration. They talked about "sustainable development" through birth control. They talked about economic redistribution and cancellation of the Third World debt. Beijing has been chosen as the site of the 1995 UN Women's Conference.

Johanna Donhal, Austria's minister for women's issues, explained in a plenary session the UN plan to control the home. "By holding the Social Summit, the international community is showing its commitment to a broader definition of the security concept... In the future, security will mean not only the absence of military threats, but also the freedom from distress and social exclusion. The primary and fundamental responsibility of the state cannot and must not be turned over to other social mechanisms or to the family in its various forms." (All column quotes are from The New American, 4/17/95, p. 4-8).

Global taxes will lead us to global tyranny! We should be trusting God, instead of the UN! "Blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD..." (PSA 33:12)

BITS OF TALK

By Fay Bovee

Mrs. Madonna LaMotte was very pleasantly surprised on her 80th birthday, May 21, when about 80 family members and friends gathered at Aunt Betty's Restaurant. She was taken there on the pretext of Betty needing something from her and was completely surprised to find everyone there, where they enjoyed a late afternoon buffet lunch and birthday cake. The party was planned by her family, with the help of Betty Kunkel and other friends. Attending were her daughter, Kay Morrill of Grayling, son, Bob and Dee LaMotte of Powell, TN, and grandchildren, Kent LaMotte and two children, also of Powell, Robbie Morrill of Grayling, Heidi and Darrell Larm and two boys, Gregory and Kent, of Grayling, Nicki and Jim Smith and son, Zachary, of Grayling. Other friends came from Roscommon, Frederic, Bay City, Saginaw, and Madison Heights.

A note and newspaper article came from Leta Babbitt, a former Grayling resident for many years on the AuSable, and now a resident of Kalamazoo. The second grade class from Kalamazoo Academy had "adopted" her this year, and with their teacher and goodies, had made a happy year for her. She celebrated his 98th birthday in April, 1995, and the class went to her apartment and presented her with a poem book, which included a poem from each child.

Tom and Marian Welsh spent two weeks in the Upper Peninsula in Mohaw and Copper Harbor. This is a yearly trip for them and they visited many old friends and had a good trip.

Mrs. Nancy Hoffman accompanied her daughter, Bridget Hoffman of Los Angeles, to Auckland, New Zealand, where they spent two weeks. Bridget was appearing in an episode of the Legendary Journeys of Hercules which was being filmed there. That episode will be shown on the TV series later in the fall. Bridget is a graduate of Grayling High School and has previously appeared in some other TV shows.

Bob and Fay Bovee and Dr. Dorothy Franke attended the ACCT Midwest Conference in Springfield, MO, where Bob and Dr. Franke were participants in one of the programs. Franke flew home to attend the CCC dedication while the Bovees continued on to Greenfield, TN, to visit his sister and husband, Joyce and Ron Moore.

Mrs. Sandy Fleming and sons, Michael and William, of Watertown, WI, were visitors in Grayling last weekend. They had attended a graduation of a relative in Saginaw on Thursday and Friday and spent the weekend visiting friends in Grayling. Sandy taught in Grayling before going to Wisconsin to teach.

A Father's Love

A father's love is one of life's greatest joys. Though a son or daughter grows up all too quickly, there are wonderful memories of many good times spent together.

Fathers deserve a national day of honor. Look how much they do for their families. They leave home early each morning and come back late, often tired. Their toil in the work places of the world provides shelter, food, clothes, education and a great deal of happiness...

Above all, a real father gives of himself to those he loves through his understanding, kindness and encouragement. Find strength in the love of our Heavenly Father. Worship this week.

Grayling to offer AuSable Riverboat building class

Grayling High School and several local traditional boat builders are collaborating to begin a class in the art of building an AuSable Riverboat at Grayling High School in the 1995 fall semester.

Helping to organize the class is Cheryl Baker of Grayling, who said, "This is an opportunity to preserve an important part of our history as well as to teach the skills and history to a new generation of builders."

The AuSable Riverboat is unique to the Crawford County area, and is tied to its history and culture. Students will be able to learn the original skills from the craftspeople and artisans who want to pass the heritage and tradition along to another generation before it is lost.

As students build their boat, they will learn woodworking skills and crafts that they can use in later life through hobbies or vocations.

Baker said the history of the river, the riverboat, and the people of Crawford County will be emphasized as a part of the class structure.

Grayling High School has offered a work area, tools and other in-kind contributions, and several local businesses and organizations have expressed an interest in the project.

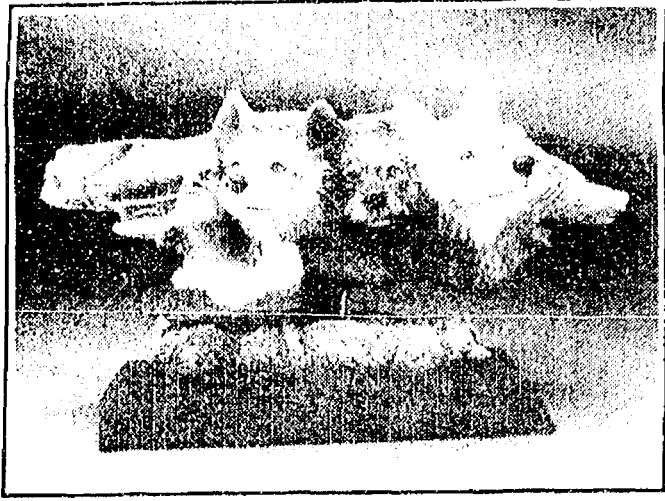

Baker said there is currently an effort to obtain much needed volunteers and materials for the project.

CRAWFORD COUNTY LIBRARY NEWS

Nelson DeMille and his best sellers are the topic for the Friday, June 16, 1 p.m., book discussion group at the Crawford County Library.

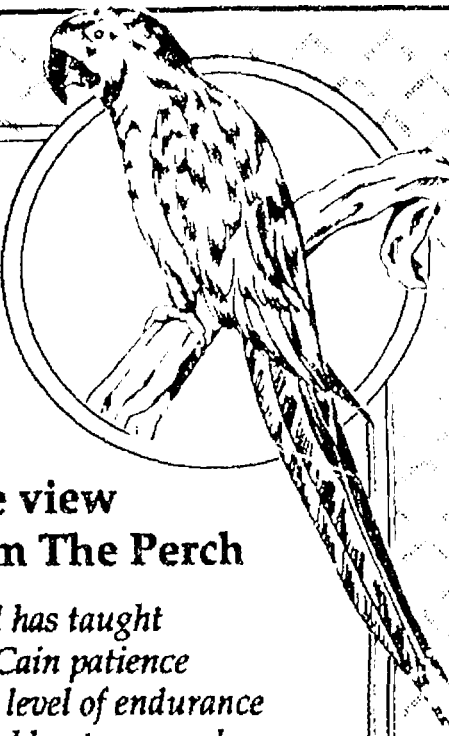

DeMille, a former army lieutenant in Vietnam, is able to bring gripping detail to his novels containing military involvement, or as in Spencerville, the seamier side of law and order. DeMille novels always include a surprise ending and brilliant characters, which makes him a best-selling author.

Oklahoma City Challenge still raising funds for disaster victims

The bombing of the Alfred Murrah federal building in Oklahoma City on April 19 has resulted in a huge outpouring of love from the American public, and an equally huge outpouring of money to aid the bombing victims and their families.

Officials in Oklahoma City have said that more than $10 million has flowed in from around the country since the terrorist bombing that killed 167 and seriously injured more than 500.

The Crawford County community has pitched in through the "Oklahoma City Challenge," and, to date, has raised more than $300, which will be sent to the Mayor's Emergency Fund in Oklahoma City.

The Mayor's Emergency Fund is being administered by a community foundation, to work closely for the needs of persons who were directly affected by the bombing, specifically through the reimbursement of medical expenses, property loss, basic maintenance and support, and funeral expenses.

To culminate the communities' efforts toward this cause, a special Business After Hours will be held on Thursday, June 15 from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at Chief Shoppenagon's Hotel. Cost will be $5 per person, at the door, with hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar available.

Local donations will be mailed directly to Oklahoma City from a special bank account at GSB. If you would like to make a donation, it can be sent to Oklahoma City Challenge, P.O. Box 489, Grayling, MI 49738.

Rock, Roll & Remember: Car enthusiasts gather in Frederic for auto show

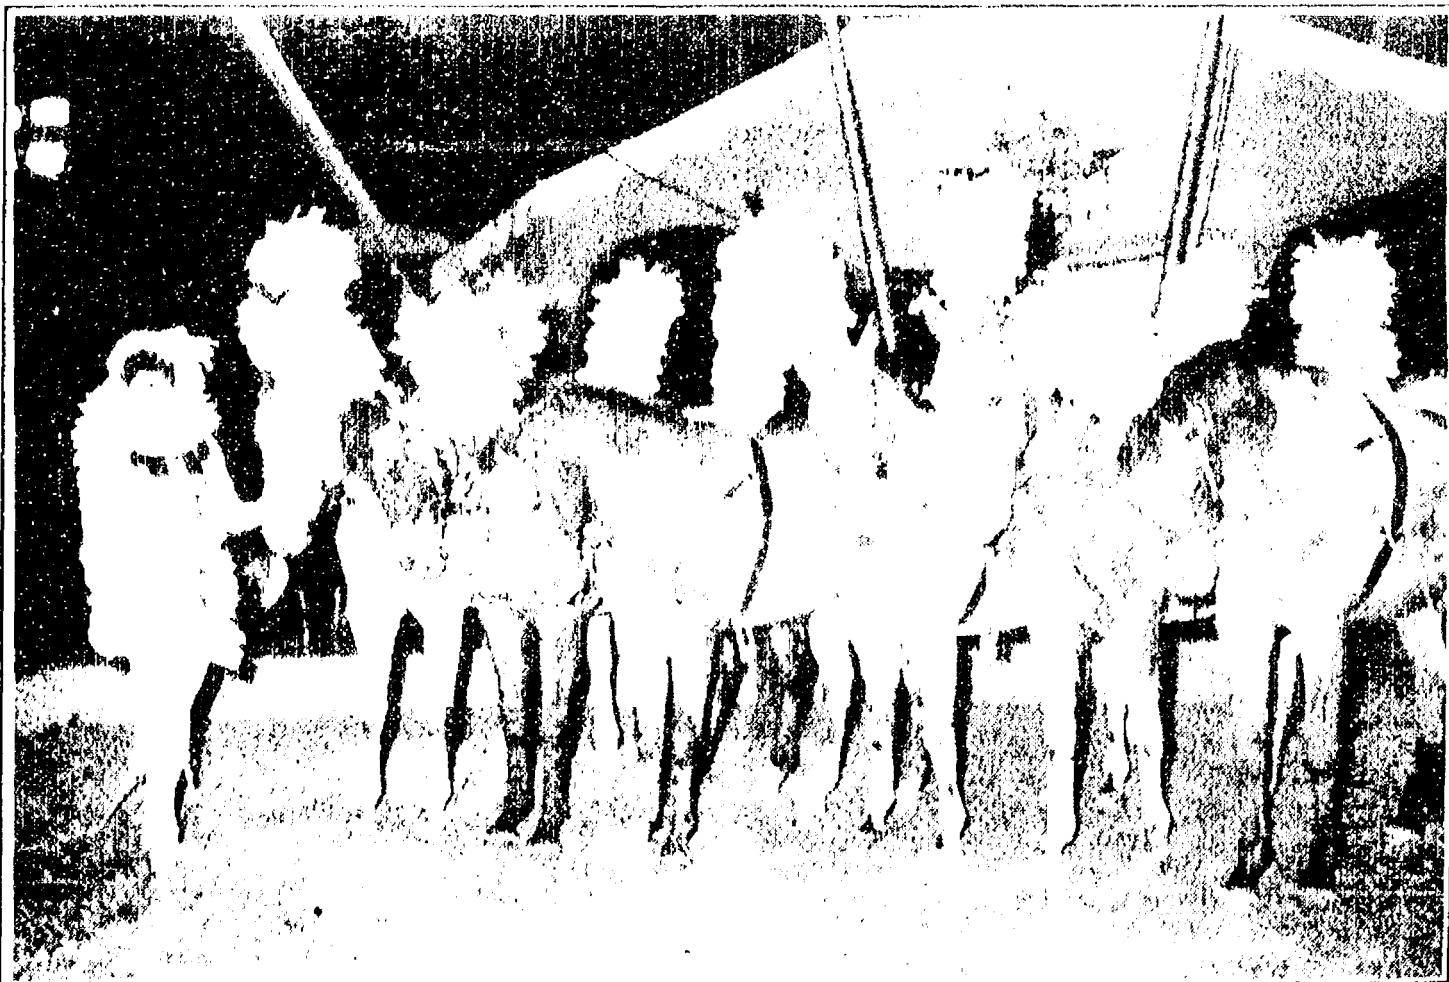

BEST OF SHOW TWO IN A ROW — Larry and Jean Sawallich of Traverse City, Mich., won "Best of Show" for their 1934 Ford Deluxe. The car is shown here at the annual Frederic Auto Show.

AN OLD DIE, BUT A GOODIE — This 1928 Ford model A belongs to Bob and Dorris Mohr of Grayling, Mich. The car features a plaque against the front bumper that tells a little about the history of the model A. Inside the car is trophies it has won at other auto shows.

Come one, come all to the circus. . .

A MOST SPECTACULAR SHOW—When is the last time you dared to peek between your fingers at truly death-defying trapeze and high-wire artists, performing live right before your very eyes? Could you train your dog to perform wonderful tricks like Miss Myrna's dogs? Enjoy classic clowning; bring the children, and see this traditional comedy through a child's eyes. The American Business Women's Association and the Crawford County Fair Association are bringing family entertainment to Grayling. The Kelly Miller Circus, founded in 1938, will present two shows. The fun begins at 4:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, July 6. Because there are only two shows, seating is limited, so buy your tickets in advance at Glen's, Mac's, or 7-Eleven while they last. Tickets are $4 for children and $7 for adults. The clowns, elephants, dogs and horses will entertain every member of your family.

Thousands of horses, horsepower that is, gathered in Frederic last weekend for the annual Frederic Auto Show held June 10 and 11.

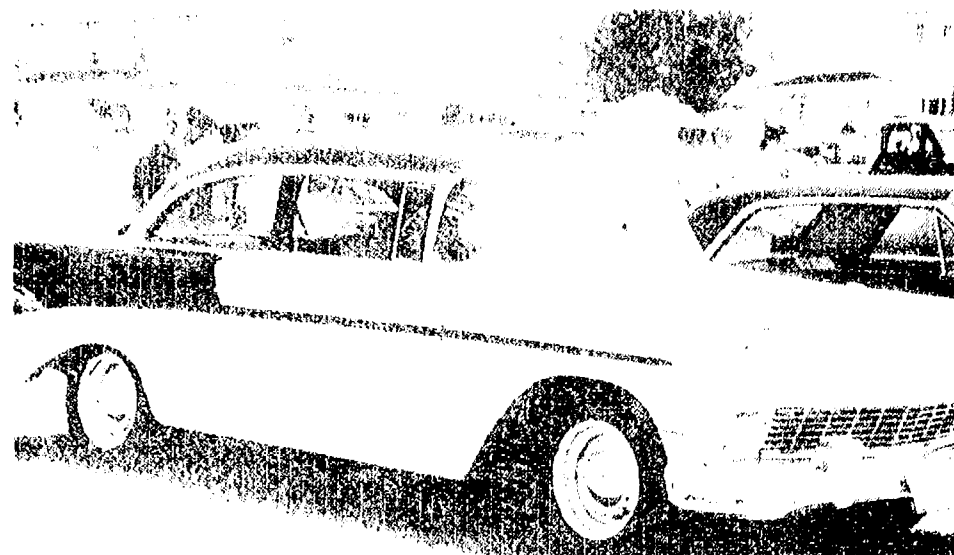

Over 120 cars were part of the show including several local cars. The Crawford County Sheriff Department led the cruise, which included 54 classic cars.

For the second year in a row, Larry and Jean Sawallich of Traverse City, won "Best of Show" for their 1934 Ford Deluxe, 2-door sedan. The car had a matching trailer and other nostalgic memorabilia displayed.

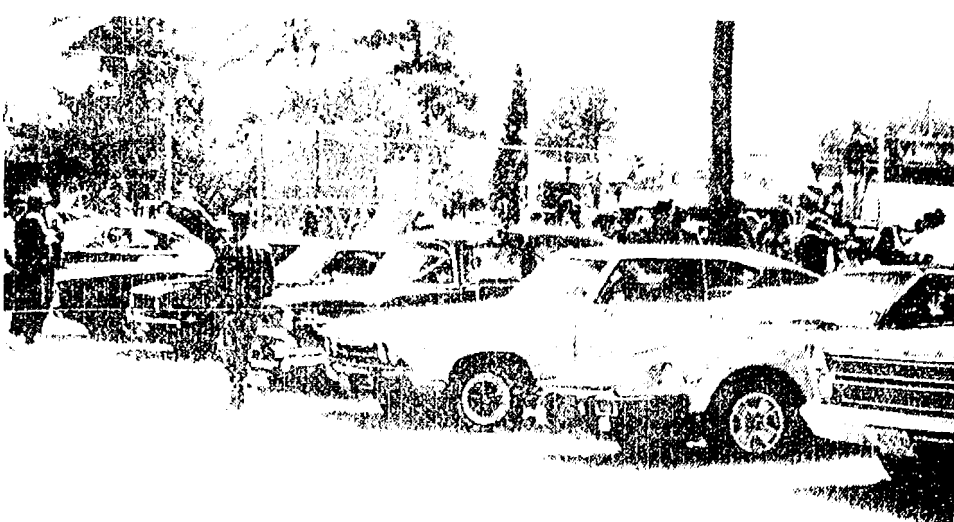

The Best of Cruise was awarded to Rick and Cindy Harner of Traverse City, for their 1938 Chevrolet street rod. Darren and Patsy Ide of Fostoria, received the award for longest distance travelled, 170 miles, to show their 1930 Model A Ford Coupe. The Fun Country Cruisers Club of Lewiston was awarded the most club participation in the auto show. The club had seven cars at the show.

The Frederic Auto Show is organized by the Frederic Auto Show Committee with the help of 128 sponsors. This year the show raised $5,100. The committee will make donations to the Frederic Park and to the Muscular Dystrophy Association. This is the second year the committee has organized the cruise.

Canoe memorial honors all racers

The new monument that has recently appeared in the Grayling City Park is the result of the love of canoe racing, especially the AuSable Marathon, of one man. Hank Feldhauser Jr. designed and built the memorial by himself, dedicated to past, present and future racers.

"Grayling should have a monument for canoe racers," Feldhauser said. "They have been such a large part of of Grayling for a very long time. I'm so proud of all of them. There are just too many of them to not say thank you."

SOUTH FACE OF MONUMENT

Feldhauser is a veteran Marathon racer himself, having entered five races. He has also raced in about 120 other races all over the country.

The Feldhauser name has been affiliated with the AuSable Marathon since the early '50s when Don Feldhauser was a 3-time Marathon champion. Since then at least six other Feldhausers have competed in the event.

GRA adult softball league in full swing

By Nick Stancil
Staff Writer

The Grayling Recreation Authority's Adult Softball League began during the second week of May and promises to be a good time for adults ages 18 and older.

"It's a really good time," said Chad Flowers, coach of Rande's Refinishing and five year player. "The team's are pretty competitive, but most people are just in it for the fun."

Rande's Refinishing is currently

2-4, but Flowers predicts success for his team.

"Our team's not bad," said Flowers, "but the team to beat is the Red Barn. They have a lot of good people from last year and they added some strong hitters from a team that split up. Once the season gets going, they should be pretty good."

Most of the six softball teams in the league practice once a week for a few weeks before the season starts and then meet only once a week for their games. All games are 6 p.m. double headers and are held at the Hanson Hills Softball Field. The league follows basic softball rules for the 18-game season. The league lasts for most of the summer, with holidays off. There is a $300 sponsorship fee and a $7 per game umpire fee.

"There aren't too many spectators right now," said Flowers, "but we should start having more later on in the season. We get quite a few people who come out with their families and their kids can play on the playground equipment. It would be nice to see a little more participation from the community to get more people involved."

At the end of the regular season there is a double elimination tournament in which all of the teams participate. The winners receive a trophy and T-shirts.

FOX RUN GOLF NEWS

By Dick Spenny

If you recall the days of the great race horse, Secretariat, you will recall that most horses had only one view of that great champion. Fox Run's men's league is presenting a similar scene in almost every flight.

Pat Dunn and Rick Longendyke pulled further into the lead in flight four with a 16.5 point win due to a team net 69. Dave Greenway and Tim Hart are now four behind, with the team of Jim Rutledge and Doc Oppy in an almost hopeless situation at 14.5

in arrears. Sub Chuck Johnston earns sub of the week honors on his fine net 31.

Flight three offers an even larger margin for the front runners. Steve Ament again took advantage of sub Jim Lippert's scoring ability to hang onto a 6 point lead in three. Glenn Jones and Jim Savage whipped the leaders and are now comfortably in second, poised for the position round in two weeks. Bob Porter paced the scoring when he signed a net 35 card.

Flight two is a laughter. Jerry DeWitt and Chuck Varner now lead by 14 points going into the final fortnight of the first-half campaign. Howard McColey and Doug Furstenau are their closest chasers. Rodger Wagner's scorecard burst into flame from his blistering net 29 round. It was half of a team net 67 with cohort Bill Denemy. The only injuries in the blaze were the egos of Don Moore and Mike Griffin, victims of the 2-bogey, 1-birdie binge.

Only first flight offers a real race. Terry Abernathy's team leads by two over a couple of experienced team campaigners. Dick Spenny holed out from the bunker on 17 to help Larry Sumerix to a 13.5-point win. Sumerix netted at 34. Tom Bailey inked a net-32 card and partner Jim Lederman added a 37 to haul in 17 points and pull into a second-place tie. It looks like position night will tell the tale. John Funky also netted at 32 on a 38 gross.

Golf tip of the week: Never putt a gimme and remember to limp on the same leg for the whole round.

Women's/men's 8-ball tourney to be held at Chief Shoppenagon's

Due to popular demand, the Tournament of Champions Men's 8-Ball Tournament, held monthly at Chief Shoppenagon's, has been expanded to include women 8 ball players. The June tournament will be held on Monday, June 19. Registration will begin at 6:30 p.m. with play commencing at 7 p.m. The first 16 players to register will be eligible to play in the double-elimination tournament. Registration fee will be $5 per player with all money collected being returned to the first and second-place winners.

As in the past, first and second-place winners in the monthly tournament, will be eligible to play in the Sept. 25 "Tournament of Champions."

Hunting & Fishing Weekly Update

THE BROWN DRAKES ARE HATCHING up and down both the Manistee and AuSable rivers. The best fly fishing for trout this year will be over the next three or four weeks, with most of the action being early evening into the night. Also you will find some sulfur duns during the daytime hours. The bluegills are in near shore now. You can do well with a rubber spider or a small popper on a fly rod, either wading or with a small boat. KP Lake, over near Lovells, has been very good recently. Also the bass fishing on Lake Margrethe has been good this past week. Don't forget bear permit applications must be in by June 30.

Due to space limitations, not all stories were able to appear in the May edition, and were submitted by Judith Mesack for consideration of publication.

By Peter Mead (8)

Do you watch too much T.V.?

We all know that our parents tell us to watch less T.V. Do we listen? No. If they tell us that we watch just as much. Or they will tell us, Why don't you read a book? Or go outside and play with friends.

How many of you watch more than 10 hours of T.V. a week? Sixty-three percent of the people we polled said they did. We polled 63 students. Why do you watch so much T.V.? Jason Boreo (7) said, "There are cool shows to watch." He said that he only watches about three hours. How much T.V. do you watch? One hour a day, 13 students said; two hours, said 14 students; 11 students watch three hours. Twenty-two students said they watch at least four hours of T.V. per day.

If you watch one hour, you are probably not addicted. If you watch two or three hours, you are on the border of addiction. Four or more hours, you are addicted. Seth Lepsy (7) says, "I watch 20 or more hours a week." He likes to watch cartoons.

Growing potatoes at Frederic Elementary

TUBERTALK--Mrs. Ruth Funk visited Mrs. Pat Wiltse's 4th grade class in Frederic recently, giving a history of potato farming and a wonderful lesson on growing vegetables. Each student then planted a potato to grow at home.

SPUD MATH--Cory Klee, Billy Reynolds and Andrew Boardman, of Mrs. Wiltse's 4th grade class, participate in potato math. Weighing, measuring and graphing skills were needed.

Cereal prices on the rise

Recently, cereal prices have been moving up. Cheerios cost $3.77 per box. There are six bowls in a box. If two people in your family ate one bowl a day, that add. up to two boxes a week. Armand Lawrence (8) says, "I eat one bowl every morning." One bowl of Cheerios costs 63 cents, without milk.

There is a way to beat this problem. If you buy a cheaper brand, you can save money. Rice Krispies are $3.99 per box, while a generic brand is $2.09 for the same amount. Regular Fruit Loops are $3.19, while generic brands are only $2.39. Mike Oswald (8) says, "My mom buys both. I like the good kind best."

Is there really much difference? The ingredients are the same. Ben Baker (8) says, "I can tell the difference in corn flakes."

Students send GMS video to Japan

GMS travels abroad! Seven students from the GMS journalism and media classes are making a video about GMS and a bit of Grayling. They will send it to an eighth grade Japanese class.

The Japanese students are part of a class taught by former GHS student Jeff Martinez, who is in Japan teaching English as a second language. GMS has been sending The Viking Press to Japan for two years. Martinez's class sent a video of their school to GMS in March.

Sarah McGuire (7), Kim Kosloski (7) and Tiffany Craigie (8) are Viking Press staffers in charge of the video production. Media staffers Mika Sumner (7), Melanie McClain (7), Brandi McClain (7) and Allison Schoen (7) are contributing. Comments Arica Wolcott (6), "I think it's a cool idea because they get to see our school."

GRAYLING MIDDLE SCHOOL

By Katie Southard

Does real crime exist in the land of the Vikings?

Have any of your things turned up missing? Or perhaps your school bag or locker has been written on. Stealing and vandalism are only two of the problems at G.M.S., and the faculty is hard at work trying to clear them up.

Grayling Middle School Principal Mr. Michael Branch states, "Sometimes it's not even G.M.S. students that do the stealing. We have other groups outside of the school that come in." By groups outside of the school, Branch means troubled students with the courts, athletic groups, etc. Also commenting on the groups is Eli Tobin (7), "I am glad that the people that came in on Wednesdays don't come in anymore because they could not be trusted around our property."

On the subject of vandalism, Nate Hinkle (7) says, "I don't see what people are accomplishing or gaining when they vandalize because you always end up facing the man in the mirror. In other words, you always get caught in the long run." Vandalism, another problem at G.M.S., seems to be on the rise. As stated in the school handbook, "Destruction of school or personal property is prohibited." Students violating this rule are subject to the disciplinary process which may include suspension or expulsion from school. Vandalizing falls under the category of anything from writing on the bathroom walls to spray painting or destructing school property.
